On 7 July 1953, SI and H experimentation was conducted in Room 20, Building 13 by [redacted] and [redacted] and using [redacted] and [redacted] as subjects.

After talking with the subjects for sometime, [redacted] took [redacted] singly while [redacted] watched. He was able to induce a light state of hypnosis which was not successful in some of the tests nor was he able to bring about a somnabulistic state. [redacted] stated she was able to be induced more easily in the past but finds it more difficult now. Some of her problems were answered and assurance was given that she would be able to go under with ease in the future.

[redacted] then took [redacted] and using a different method of induction was able to bring her to a somnambulistic stage. A series of sensory tests were successful and then she was directed to open her eyes and walk about the room and speak which she was able to do without difficulty.
